Coroner's Inquest Begun in Fielding Murder Case-Joseph McGarry Gives Himself Up-Is Held with George Berger-Inquest to Be Continued To-

That John Fielding probably met death as the result of a blow on the right temple was the opinion of Dr. W. W. Adams of Moosup and Dr. Louis I Mason of Willimantic, after they had completed the autopsy in the Moosup murder case Monday. The autopsy was performed at the instance of Coroner Arthur G. Bill of Danielson, who also commenced the inquest Monday and spent the greater part of the day investigating the case but was unable to examine all the witnesses whom he desired to hear. lated similar stores. They told of be-ing in East Killingly, of returning to Moosup, and of starting for their homes. The two men who assaulted them, they claim, were standing on the platform at the freight station when they passed that place, Park-inson told the coroner that he had stopped there a minute and that after he had been warned by the fellows on the platform to move on, and he had agreed to do so, that they were at-tacked. He claims to have been knocked down by a blow, that he also saw Fielding and Stanfield struck down. Then he got out of the fight and left for home. Stanfield's story

GLAD HE'S IN JAIL. George Reed, Companion of Murdered John Fielding, Might Have Fared

George Reed, 57, companion of John Sielding, the man murdered at Moosur Sunday night, and of the other two members of the party during their trip to the Rhode Island line section on that day, was arrested by Officers Frank Keach and Ira Martin at three o'clock Monday morning at the Hodgins house, near the Keystone building, and locked up on a charge of intoxication. He is now at the county fall in Brooking to serve a sentence.

because Read skipped town about Thanksgiving time, 1908, after he had was continued. Monday, on the old counts, he received 30 days for intox-ication and 60 days for breach of the peace; on the newer charge of intox-ication he was given thirty days. Reed was very much surprised on Monday morning when Chief Pilling read to him the account in The Bulletin of how his friend, Fielding, had met death at Moosup a few hours after, the pair had separated here. He expressed satisfaction that he was locked up here instead of being involved in the serious affair in the neighboring town.

Reed talked freely with Chief Pilling about the manner that he and ng about the manner that he and Fleiding and Stanfield and Whittiker had spent Sunday in the bad lands across the Rhode Island border. Reed admitted that members of the party drank beer during the day. In deborning how the party came to be in Danielson Sunday night about nine o'clock, Reed said that they were bound here from East Killingly on a P. & D. car when the car became disabled at Elimville, and rather than wait for another car they had decided to walk to Danielson, as the conductor told them it was only about a mile. This part of Reed's story is substantiated by persons who saw the quartette walking toward this place. They are sald to have acted as if they were much intoxicated, so much so, in fact, that one of the men, believed to have been Felding, fell to the ground when near Davis' switch in Westfield and had to be assisted to his feet. ALBERT ALBERTA ARRESTED. Believed to Be Guilty of Assault on Athol, Mass., Teacher.

Albert Alberta, 38, queer acting and ander suspicion of being guilty of criminally assaulting Miss Lucy Shepardson, a school teacher of Philipston, near Athel, Mass., was taken into cus-tody in Putnam Monday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff H. S. Goddard of Athel Deputy Sheriff H. S. Goddard of Athol and Capt. P. F. Murray of Worcester, connected with the Mausachusetts state detective force. Alberta was taken to Athol, where he will be subjected to the scrutiny of the victim of the assault in an endeavor to determine if he is the guilty party. There is an offer of $100 reward for the detection of the guilty man.

Alberta has been loitering around Putnam since last Wednesday, the day after the crime was committed. He first attracted the attention of Capt. John Murray by reason of the fact that he was wearing a false moustache. The captain pulled this off for him and told him a few things about wearing disguises on the streets. Alberta hung around all the week, however, spending much of his time around the rail-ng much of his time around the railroad station, marching nervously up and down the walks, chewing unlight-ed cigars, and occasionally his finger nails, as well as doing other things that directed suspicion against him. In the meantime he was living at a local boarding house and getting his meals at a restaurant. Sunday Station Agent G. L. Baldwin saw an item in a Boston paper about the Athol case and mentally connected Arberta with it. Massachusetts officers were given information about Afberta and they came here Sunday evening to get him, but although they searched the city and kept close watch on the evening trains, they could not locate him. They got him Monday, however, after he returned from Pomfret, where he had spent Sunday night, presumably with relatives.
